

1 Min Scalping Strategy (VERY EASY) SAVA Stock As Example

By winkler · September 18, 2020

TL;DR

This blog post discusses a simple scalping strategy using SAVA stock as an example. It highlights the importance of practice in executing this strategy effectively, especially for small-cap stocks. The author invites readers to share their insights on enhancing the setup for uptrending small-caps.

What I believe is one of the cleanest setups but I often miss because I'm a bit too bearish on these small caps (especially this week). Practice makes perfect though. Would you add anything to this setup for uptrending small-caps?

SAVA\$2.38+12.26% WPRT\$2.20-2.65% IMMP\$0.41+5.44% PIC

<https://youtu.be/9n3oWfVboEc>

FAQ

What is the main focus of the blog post?

The blog post focuses on a straightforward scalping strategy using SAVA stock as a case study.

Why does the author mention being bearish on small caps?

The author expresses a tendency to be bearish on small caps, which may lead to missed trading opportunities.

What does the author suggest for improving the scalping strategy?

The author invites readers to contribute ideas for enhancing the scalping setup for uptrending small-cap stocks.

Is the scalping strategy suitable for beginners?

Yes, the strategy is described as very easy, making it accessible for beginners.

Where can I find more information about this strategy?

More information can be found in the linked YouTube video provided in the blog post.