

September 26th, 2022 (-$51)

By disciplined_daytrader · September 26, 2022

TL;DR

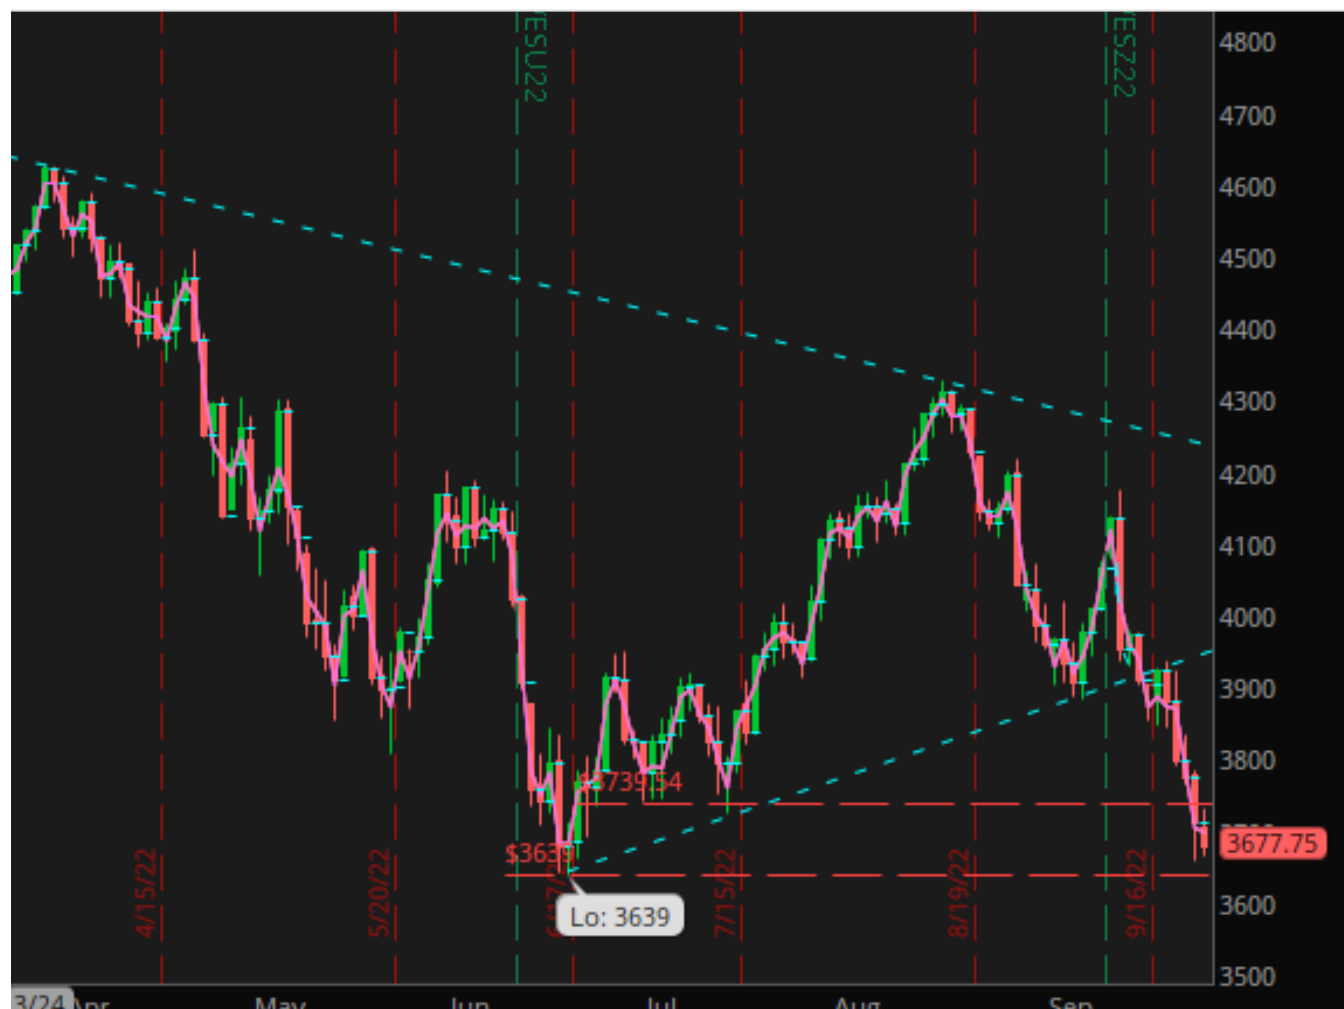

On September 26th, 2022, the author experienced a trading loss of $34, breaking a winning streak. They reflect on their mistakes and acknowledge that the loss could have been worse, detailing their trades involving trend reversals and continuations.

Full Analysis: September 26th, 2022 \(-\$34\) FULL ANALYSIS \(tradejournal.co\)

September 26th, 2022

-Ahh I finally broke my green streak but at least I know exactly what I did wrong today and to be completely honest I deserve this loss and it really couldve been so much worse than it was.

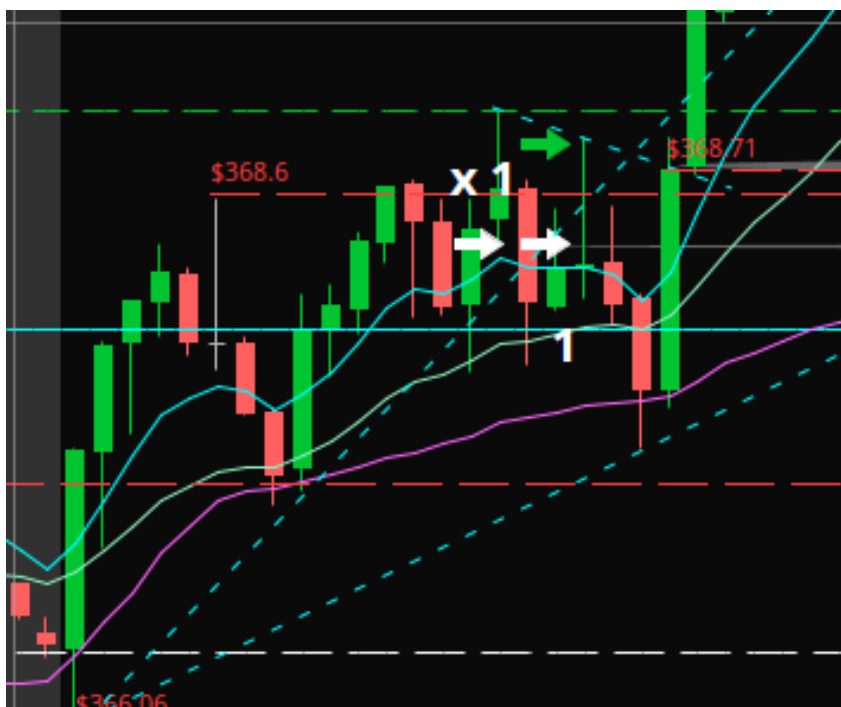

1yr:1d

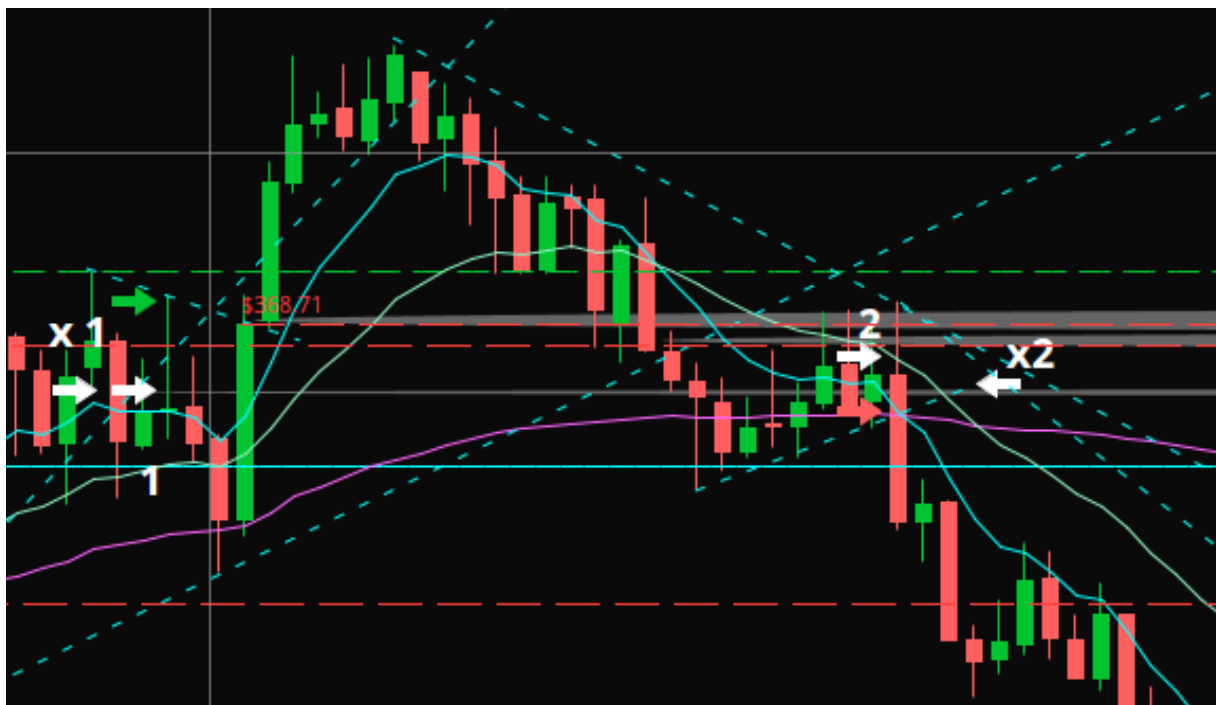

1d:2m

1st Trade: Trend Reversal

2nd Trade: Trend Continuation

3rd Trade: Trend Continuation

4th Trade: Trend Continuation (See Chart Above)

5th Trade: Trend Reversal (See Chart Above)

1st Trade TSLA\$319.53-0.63% Trend Reversal

Missed (easy money) Opportunities:

Full Analysis Located on my main Portfolio: September 26th, 2022 \(-\$34\) FULL ANALYSIS \(tradejournal.co\)

FAQ

What was the trading loss on September 26th, 2022?

The trading loss on September 26th, 2022, was $34.

What types of trades were made on this date?

The trades included trend reversals and trend continuations.

Did the author learn anything from their loss?

Yes, the author recognized their mistakes and accepted responsibility for the loss.

How did the author feel about breaking their winning streak?

The author felt disappointed but acknowledged that the loss could have been worse.

Where can I find the full analysis of the trades?

The full analysis can be found on the author's main portfolio at tradejournal.co.